

LATEST PHOTOPLAY NEWS

HERALD FAVORITES

The Esplanade Company insists that it has in its possession the dearest stage mother in screenland, and perhaps you have also made that decision in your minds, namely, that Helen Dunbar, the actress, is the dearest stage mother in screenland.

Esplanade character actress, is just your ideal. She is extremely popular with her many friends, many of whom she has never seen, and is known from coast to coast as the most trying role in a perfect and finished manner. In fact, the Esplanade Company is quite certain that no one else can take the place of Helen Dunbar, and she can possibly handle, which accounts for the pleasure "movie" fans enjoy so often.

ANOTHER LASKY PLAY COMING.

"Where the Trail Divides" Features Robert Edeson. The "Trail Divides" with Robert Edeson, created so profound an impression that Samuel Goldfish, head of the Lasky Play Company, decided to make a series of Edeson pictures, and on October 12 the company will offer Robert Edeson in his recent stage success, "Where the Trail Divides," made into pictures by Cecil B. De Mille, with said to be the best Lasky production to date.

TODAY'S PHOTO DRAMA.

So long as man remains just mere man, just so long will he attempt some time or another a personal revenge. Society in its sane deliberations has realized the dangers of one of its members reverting to the brute-of-the-elemental passion taking control under certain conditions—and society, to guard against such a time, has made laws in the hope of coping with such a situation, but do these laws, which after all, are wholly finite, dissuade or awe the individual whose every nerve is tingling for passion? Or are they merely a fancy of real wrong? Is civilization merely an abstract term, falling of proper explanation? Is man underneath the scratch still the savage? That's what you are going to ask yourself on witnessing this two-

MOTION PICTURE SHOWS TODAY

This Schedule Changes Daily

NORTHWEST.

The Next Installment of The Grey O'Hearts. Following the story in today's Herald, can be seen at Colonial Theater. Next Tuesday, September 29. Day and Night.

9th LEADER BETWEEN E &amp; F Sts.

A HORSE SHOE FOR LUCK. Vitaphone Comedy. "THE GOLD THIEF." Biograph Drama. "TWIN AND TROUBLE." Edison Comedy. "THE GREEN ROSE." Kalem Drama. 14th St. THE ROYAL. Special Show. KALEM ADVENTURE. 10c.

McADOO'S SON HAS NARROW ESCAPE

His Automobile Turned Turtle When He Was Hurrying to Depot.

Francis H. McAdoo, son of Secretary of Treasury William G. McAdoo, had a narrow escape from death last night at 8:30 o'clock when his automobile turned turtle at Connecticut and Cathedral avenues northwest.

At the time of the accident young McAdoo was going south on Connecticut avenue, hurrying to catch a train for Baltimore. His car skidded the rear end of the automobile of J. Webster Manning, of 2827 Twenty-eighth street northwest, turning completely over and pinning him under it. Twenty or more men lifted the car from him, but discovered he had only received a slight cut on the head and minor bruises on the body.

The Manning car was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Manning and their mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Connor, Mrs. Connor who was in the rear seat of the Manning car, was thrown out, badly injuring her right arm.

Young McAdoo was forced to abandon his trip to Baltimore and returned to his father's home.

Captain Blew Up Ship When Attacked by British Cruiser

Buenos Ayres, Sept. 26.—Some of the survivors of the German steamer Cap Trafalgar, which arrived here Thursday, declared that during the night of Sept. 25 the ship was attacked by a British auxiliary cruiser, but that the captain of the Cap Trafalgar blew up his own ship with dynamite when he saw his capture or sinking was inevitable, after she was attacked several days ago about 300 miles off Rio de Janeiro.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

French Ruse at Verdun Costs Kaiser 7,000 Men

London, Sept. 26.—How a French ruse at Verdun cost the Germans 7,000 men was made known by a dispatch from the French press. It declares that during the night of Sept. 25 the French attacked the German position at Verdun, and that the Germans, believing the place had been evacuated, sent forward to destroy the redoubt.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

STEEL WINS FOR ALLIES IN BATTLE IN TRENCHES

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE

then by the other of the rival armies, made the fighting about St. Quentin. The French detachments of the advanced force which swung around to the west and northward of von Kluck's main position, the German staff officers, occupying St. Quentin were valiantly defending the city against the superior forces, but to our tonight reports from the front, the German position was appreciable gains on either side.

Gen. Joffre is hurrying re-enforcements to every threatened section along the whole front, and the new offensive, preparatory force and a large body of French reserves are reported already to have taken their places on the firing line. On the center the bombardment of the German line continues incessantly. The French feeling out the German positions, in an effort to locate the weak places, and to find out where they will throw in a wedge of cavalry, supported by infantry, bend this line inward, and, if possible, follow up the advantage in the German line, and the German staff officers by turning them back upon von Boehm.

Naval Victory for French.

The German line now begins at Mons, then swings westward to St. Amant and south through Cambrai to St. Quentin, then through the German line. From here it follows the heights of the Aisne to a point north of Rheims and thence east to Varennes, and along the Meuse to the German line. The French gunboats, after sinking two vessels of the German auxiliary fleet, the Rhine and the Italia, captured Coco Beach, in German Cameroons, Africa.

The following official statement was issued tonight:

"The enemy has attacked along the whole front. They have been repulsed everywhere.

"On our left wing we are making progress.

"On the heights of the Meuse the situation is not changing.

"We were we continue to gain ground."

HOROSCOPE.

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

Sunday, September 27, 1914.

Astrology finds this a day in which Venus rules the world. Although Jupiter is in a mildly benefic aspect the leading influence is centered in the star that brings high hopes in lovers.

It is a position of favorable time for romance, the stars declare, since the configuration is said to indicate that sympathy and understanding are quickened while the configuration endures.

"Venus is subject to a fortunate influence. The government of the stars is auspicious for association with relatives and for making new acquaintances.

"There is a good omen for the wearing of new clothing. Garments are believed to be more becoming and to last longer than they would, if donned under adverse influences.

"Dressmakers and milliners are subject to influences that will be most fruitful ultimately. There is a prognostication that the next two years will mean much to all Americans who deal in articles made for the adornment of women. Under this same omen, florists, perfumers, embroiderers, jewelers, and dyers should prosper.

"When Venus is strongly beneficent in sway, ancient lore held that dwells the dumb, deformed, and those with only one eye.

"The rule is most auspicious for poets and actors. Late in the winter they will prosper and many will benefit through the success of the artistic profession should benefit. It is predicted that musicians will be unusually fortunate during the coming season.

"There is a good omen for the wearing of new clothing. Garments are believed to be more becoming and to last longer than they would, if donned under adverse influences.

"Dressmakers and milliners are subject to influences that will be most fruitful ultimately. There is a prognostication that the next two years will mean much to all Americans who deal in articles made for the adornment of women. Under this same omen, florists, perfumers, embroiderers, jewelers, and dyers should prosper.

"When Venus is strongly beneficent in sway, ancient lore held that dwells the dumb, deformed, and those with only one eye.

"The rule is most auspicious for poets and actors. Late in the winter they will prosper and many will benefit through the success of the artistic profession should benefit. It is predicted that musicians will be unusually fortunate during the coming season.

"There is a good omen for the wearing of new clothing. Garments are believed to be more becoming and to last longer than they would, if donned under adverse influences.

"Dressmakers and milliners are subject to influences that will be most fruitful ultimately. There is a prognostication that the next two years will mean much to all Americans who deal in articles made for the adornment of women. Under this same omen, florists, perfumers, embroiderers, jewelers, and dyers should prosper.

"When Venus is strongly beneficent in sway, ancient lore held that dwells the dumb, deformed, and those with only one eye.

"The rule is most auspicious for poets and actors. Late in the winter they will prosper and many will benefit through the success of the artistic profession should benefit. It is predicted that musicians will be unusually fortunate during the coming season.

"There is a good omen for the wearing of new clothing. Garments are believed to be more becoming and to last longer than they would, if donned under adverse influences.

"Dressmakers and milliners are subject to influences that will be most fruitful ultimately. There is a prognostication that the next two years will mean much to all Americans who deal in articles made for the adornment of women. Under this same omen, florists, perfumers, embroiderers, jewelers, and dyers should prosper.

"When Venus is strongly beneficent in sway, ancient lore held that dwells the dumb, deformed, and those with only one eye.

"The rule is most auspicious for poets and actors. Late in the winter they will prosper and many will benefit through the success of the artistic profession should benefit. It is predicted that musicians will be unusually fortunate during the coming season.

"There is a good omen for the wearing of new clothing. Garments are believed to be more becoming and to last longer than they would, if donned under adverse influences.

"Dressmakers and milliners are subject to influences that will be most fruitful ultimately. There is a prognostication that the next two years will mean much to all Americans who deal in articles made for the adornment of women. Under this same omen, florists, perfumers, embroiderers, jewelers, and dyers should prosper.

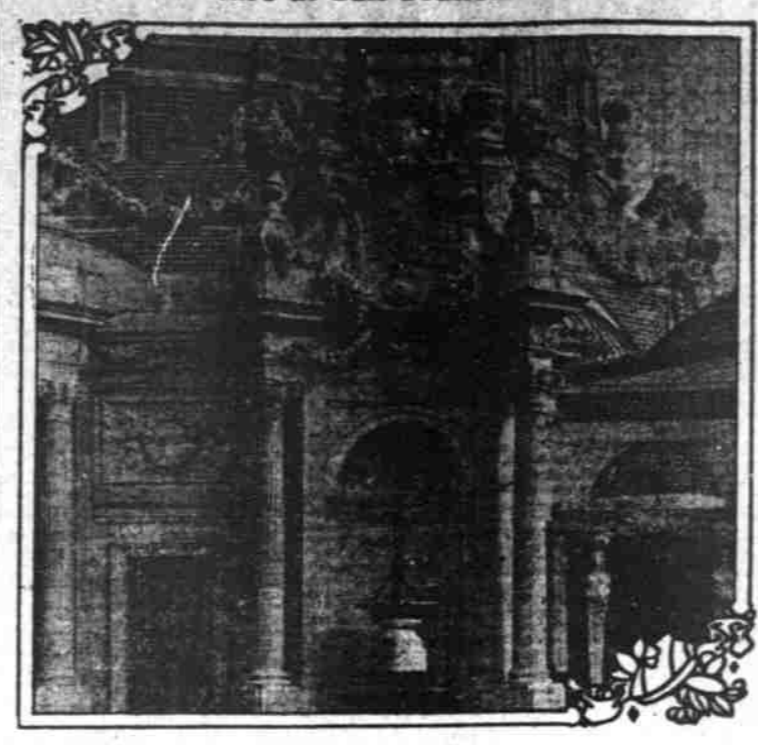

"When Venus is strongly beneficent in sway, ancient lore held that dwells the dumb, deformed, and those with only one eye.

"The rule is most auspicious for poets and actors. Late in the winter they will prosper and many will benefit through the success of the artistic profession should benefit. It is predicted that musicians will be unusually fortunate during the coming season.

"There is a good omen for the wearing of new clothing. Garments are believed to be more becoming and to last longer than they would, if donned under adverse influences.

"Dressmakers and milliners are subject to influences that will be most fruitful ultimately. There is a prognostication that the next two years will mean much to all Americans who deal in articles made for the adornment of women. Under this same omen, florists, perfumers, embroiderers, jewelers, and dyers should prosper.

Exquisite Details of the Vast Palace of Horticulture at San Francisco.

A SECTION of the Palace of Horticulture, one of the most notable and beautiful of the exhibit palaces at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. The huge glass dome is Sarcenic in origin. The exquisite details suggest eighteenth century French renaissance.

The Mystery of the Redheaded Masquerader

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE

"And here I am," monologued Henry J. Mix, "tucked away as proprietor of a little hick drug store like this, all because I once spent an evening in Brooklyn, N. Y."

"If I hadn't gone" that night to Brooklyn, N. Y., I would not now be avoiding that town and environs and going through life afraid to look a redheaded man in the eyes. As I know you of whether to stay here or journey out to Terre Haute, Ind., where the chances of seeing anyone that I ever saw anywhere else might be even less and French throat lozenges, for a few—was sent forward to destroy the redoubt.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Three officers and eleven members of the crew were lost through the sinking.

When very close they were met by a deadly fusillade from the suddenly unmasked French machine guns. The number of bodies left was estimated at 7,000.

Roosevelt's Daughter Sails To Nurse Wounded Soldiers

New York, Sept. 26.—Mrs. Richard D. Roosevelt, who before her marriage was Miss Ethel Roosevelt, daughter of Gen. Roosevelt, sailed for Europe today on the Olympic to nurse wounded soldiers in France.

CRACOW BATTLE MAY OPEN WAY TO BERLIN

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE

war office. The report, it was explained there, probably arose from the fact that large German forces have joined the Austrian defenders of Cracow.

How the Austrians who opposed the Russian advance were slaughtered in a trap set for them is related by the correspondent of the Russian Movo, who is accompanying the Russian troops.

"According to a press dispatch," he says "several squadrons of Cossacks and infantry, simulating retreat, began to fall back rapidly under cover of artillery.

The Austrians rushed to the bait and emerged from their trenches in pursuit in the direction of a small river, a affluent of the San, where companies of Russian infantry checked the furious onslaught.

Cossacks and artillery, crossing by bridge, began to trench themselves on the opposite bank, posting several machine guns, while the artillery hid their guns in the trenches under the bushes, unperceived by the enemy.

"When preparations were completed for the enemy's reception, the infantry purposely retreated to the opposite bank, where they pretended to set fire to the bridge, as though intending to cut off the enemy's advance. The Austrian troops, seeing before them a small body of Russians, charged blindly. The enemy's infantry, with shouts of victory, approached the bridge, while their cavalry dashed through the river.

"On their retreat.

"Suddenly" the explosion was heard, and the bridge, which was crowded with massed Austrian columns, was blown to pieces, while on the opposite bank the Russian guns and quick-firing machine guns opened fire, mowing down the Austrians until the river was choked with bodies.

Panic-stricken, the foe attempted to flee, throwing away their weapons, but the Cossacks consummated the work of demolition, fording the stream and pursuing the enemy with yells of triumph.

Half an hour later it was all over, and several Austrian battalions had ceased to exist."

Pitched Battle Coming.

London, Sept. 26.—The Petrograd correspondent of the Daily Telegraph cables as follows:

"We are evidently on the eve of important events in the north and west of Russian Poland. Two days ago it was announced authoritatively that considerable columns of the Russian army were moving themselves on this side of the frontier, in the neighborhood of Mlava, had withdrawn toward the north.

"In spite of the proximity of the enemy, the people of Warsaw are remaining quite calm."

Though this message seems to deal with the existing state of things, it is possible that the German forces to which it refers are those which have been withdrawn to the north, in the neighborhood of Tarnobrzeg.

Skirmishes daily become more extensive, all arms being engaged on both sides and they seem to be but the prelude to a pitched battle.

VILLA RUSHES PLANS FOR WAR

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE

while preparing to leave for the North to intercept Villa's army. He was expecting the entraining of the troops when a shrapnel bomb exploded.

Gen. Alvaro Obregon, whose detention by Villa precipitated his flight, reported the result of his conferences.

Carranza Will Fight.

Conflicting reports of Carranza's attitude toward the declaration of war upon him by Villa were received here yesterday.

The State Department received a message from Mexico City asserting that Carranza had called before him the diplomatic corps, recalled the diplomatic corps, and announced that he expected to fight not only Villa but Zapata, with whom he had failed to cope.

On the other hand, Gustavo Espinosa, Carranza's private secretary to Carranza, who is now in Washington, gave out a statement declaring that Carranza would meet next Thursday will peacefully compose the differences between Villa and Carranza.

Other news inclines to the belief that Carranza will attempt resistance to Villa's force. It is not believed he is in a position to continue any effective resistance for more than a short time, and that he will eventually be driven to the leader of the north. Unofficial reports were received today to the effect that Carranza had refused offers of mediation from group in Mexico City.

Neither is it believed here he will permit the convention of next week, in which he will be unrepresented, to make any settlement of the diplomatic corps. Communication with Mexico City was re-established yesterday, much to the satisfaction of the State Department.

A report received from Gen. Funston indicated that ex-federal soldiers, co-operating with Gen. Villa, were responsible for the cutting of the railroad and telegraphic communication between Vera Cruz and Mexico City.

Meanwhile the arrangements for the evacuation of Vera Cruz by the American legation are at a standstill. There is no doubt here of the present quarrel having the effect of keeping the troops there indefinitely. It is admitted that neither the money nor the troops are in a position to meet next Thursday will peacefully compose the differences between Villa and Carranza.

Other news inclines to the belief that Carranza will attempt resistance to Villa's force. It is not believed he is in a position to continue any effective resistance for more than a short time, and that he will eventually be driven to the leader of the north. Unofficial reports were received today to the effect that Carranza had refused offers of mediation from group in Mexico City.

Neither is it believed here he will permit the convention of next week, in which he will be unrepresented, to make any settlement of the diplomatic corps. Communication with Mexico City was re-established yesterday, much to the satisfaction of the State Department.

A report received from Gen. Funston indicated that ex-federal soldiers, co-operating with Gen. Villa, were responsible for the cutting of the railroad and telegraphic communication between Vera Cruz and Mexico City.

Meanwhile the arrangements for the evacuation of Vera Cruz by the American legation are at a standstill. There is no doubt here of the present quarrel having the effect of keeping the troops there indefinitely. It is admitted that neither the money nor the troops are in a position to meet next Thursday will peacefully compose the differences between Villa and Carranza.

Other news inclines to the belief that Carranza will attempt resistance to Villa's force. It is not believed he is in a position to continue any effective resistance for more than a short time, and that he will eventually be driven to the leader of the north. Unofficial reports were received today to the effect that Carranza had refused offers of mediation from group in Mexico City.

Neither is it believed here he will permit the convention of next week, in which he will be unrepresented, to make any settlement of the diplomatic corps. Communication with Mexico City was re-established yesterday, much to the satisfaction of the State Department.

A report received from Gen. Funston indicated that ex-federal soldiers, co-operating with Gen. Villa, were responsible for the cutting of the railroad and telegraphic communication between Vera Cruz and Mexico City.

Meanwhile the arrangements for the evacuation of Vera Cruz by the American legation are at a standstill. There is no doubt here of the present quarrel having the effect of keeping the troops there indefinitely. It is admitted that neither the money nor the troops are in a position to meet next Thursday will peacefully compose the differences between Villa and Carranza.

Other news inclines to the belief that Carranza will attempt resistance to Villa's force. It is not believed he is in a position to continue any effective resistance for more than a short time, and that he will eventually be driven to the leader of the north. Unofficial reports were received today to the effect that Carranza had refused offers of mediation from group in Mexico City.

Neither is it believed here he will permit the convention of next week, in which he will be unrepresented, to make any settlement of the diplomatic corps. Communication with Mexico City was re-established yesterday, much to the satisfaction of the State Department.

A report received from Gen. Funston indicated that ex-federal soldiers, co-operating with Gen. Villa, were responsible for the cutting of the railroad and telegraphic communication between Vera Cruz and Mexico City.

Meanwhile the arrangements for the evacuation of Vera Cruz by the American legation are at a standstill. There is no doubt here of the present quarrel having the effect of keeping the troops there indefinitely. It is admitted that neither the money nor the troops are in a position to meet next Thursday will peacefully compose the differences between Villa and Carranza.